FinCom Chairman Views Rate Drop

Prediction of a $1 decrease in Andover's $54 tax rate is viewed by Finance Committee Chairman Francis J. Byrne as "a gamble, but close."

The FinCom report containing the board's recommendations on budget and town meeting articles, went to the printers this week.

The report contains the cuts it had recommended over and above those made by the selectmen in the general town budget. It further does not contain the budget recommendations of the selectmen as requested.

Byrne said that the request had been received too late. It would have resulted in additional expense and work to cut in a third column in the budget section, Byrne explains.

As for meeting with the selectmen and town manager to again review the FinCom budget recommendations, Byrne said the selectmen had requested a meeting and they will be placed on the agenda for Tuesday night.

As for his prediction, Byrne noted there are still factors to consider, such as the additional $123,000 cut by the school committee from their budget last week. Also, there is the $650,000 teacher pay deferral item and possibly some additional funds needed to be placed back in the veterans service budget.

The FinCom chairman feels it will be necessary to have the Cherry Sheet figures from the state by April 15 if a firm prediction on the tax rate is to be made, but feels that provided FinCom recommendations are followed the $54 rate can be broken.

The 112-page FinCom report is expected to be ready for processing and mailing by the end of this week and on the way to voters by early next week.

Makeup of the report will differ somewhat this year, Byrne said. It will contain pictures, graphs and other art work which has been done by

An Inspector In Every Sense Of The Word

In order to satisfy state and town regulations, Arthur Peatman now has two titles, both having duties of a similar nature.

As enforcer of town building laws, and in accordance with the Andover zoning bylaws, he is to be known as building inspector.

To carry out the dictates of the state building laws and to comply with Chapter 802 of the General Laws he is to be known as Inspector of Buildings.

The selectmen made both appointments Monday night.

Mr. Peatman will carry out the duties of both offices at the single salary rate.

Selectmen, Manager View Budget Cuts

The selectmen and town manager are hopeful of reconciling differences in budget cuts as proposed by the Finance Committee at meetings next week.

Meanwhile, Town Manager J. Maynard Austin is continuing his review of the budget figures which show that the whittling process exercised in his $7,812,000 budget presented last December, is now about $326,000 lighter.

This is a result of the selectmen and manager working together to cut out in the vicinity of $214,000 and the FinCom attacking an additional $112,000.

The FinCom a week ago, and before they went to print with their annual report and town meeting recommendations, were accused of "fly-speck accounting," by selectmen who were critical of their slicing off items in the $10 to $50 category in the town budget.

Town Manager Austin said this week that he would not make any judgments on the tax rate, based on current figures. He said he would reserve judgment until he sees the completed FinCom report and also the Cherry Sheet figures, containing state reimbursements, due in early April.

The selectmen seem willing to go to town meeting beginning

Manager's Appointees Approved

Appointments of several town officials by Town Manager J. Maynard Austin were confirmed by the selectmen Monday night.

William H. Russell was reappointed to a three year term as assessor, Atty. Alfred A. Daniels to a one year term as town counsel, Atty. Frederic S. O'Brien as assistant town counsel, Dr. Robert A. Walsh to the board of health for three years, and Dr. Richard V. Lindsay, inspector of animals for one year.

Other appointments: Wilfred Blanchette, Patrick Flynn and John Lewis, Patriotic Holiday Committee; Irene H. McCarthy, Towle Fund Trust; Chief David L. Nicoll, keeper of the lockup; Benjamin C. Brown and Thomas P. Eldred, constables; Forrest H. Noyes, Jr., game warden, James W. Deyermund and Eugene A. Zalla, Jr., deputies; Philip K. Allen, Stanley E. Butcher and Philip A. Dargie, Historical commission; Mrs. Gail Anderson, Mrs. Sue Dennett, Mrs. Alix Driscoll, Mrs. Elaine Katz and Mrs. Lolli Sumberg, recycling committee.

CENTRAL STREET LOT for which rezoning is sought at town meeting will allow access to the remainder of the Andover Savings Bank property. It is the site of the former McArdle homestead, the building having been taken down after purchase of the property by the bank for development and improvement of the downtown area.

Bank Seeks Lot Rezoning

Rezoning of a plot of land on Central street from residential to business use holds a key to improvement of the downtown business area currently in the planning stage by the Andover Savings Bank.

The land involved, familiarly known as the former McArdle property, is owned by the bank which purchased the property to the rear of its existing building at Main and Chestnut streets, and extends down Main street to the alley across from town hall.

The Central street property will provide access to the entire area, and will also provide additional parking facilities.

It is located between what is now the McArdle professional building and a residence. After acquisition of the entire plot last year, the bank had the existing wood structure torn down and the property leveled.

Executive Vice President Richard MacGowan of the bank, reports that the financial institution is planning development of the area for retail and commercial space, although nothing is firm in this regard as yet.

Initial plans call for providing a three-tiered parking area with access from Central street.

FOR THE OLD SCHOOL. Sam Waterston, a native of North Andover, and Lois Chiles, are two members of society's rich, swept into the turbulent passions of the jazz age in David Merrick's production of Jack Clayton's film, "The Great Gatsby," which will have its local premiere at Cinema 3 Chelmsford, April 2. The premiere will benefit the Pike School, where Waterston obtained his early education.

North Andover Native In Benefit For Pike School

On April 2, a special premiere and benefit performance of "The Great Gatsby" will have special significance for many viewers at the Cinema 3 Theatre in Chelmsford.

Sam Waterston, who was raised in North Andover, will play the role of Nick Carroway, narrator, in F. Scott Fitzgerald's enduring love story of Jay Gatsby (Robert Redford) and Daisy Buchanan (Mia Farrow).

The David Merrick production, heralded in advance for its beauty and authentic reproduction of the "Jazz Age," will be sponsored by the Pike School Parents' Association as their major fund-raising event of the year. The choice of movie is particularly fitting since Sam Waterston and his family attended the Pike School.

The role of Nick Carroway is the latest in a series of major roles both in theatre and film for Waterston. As Carroway, Waterston has the difficult role of presenting and interpreting the volatile balance of reality and dreams in a sophisticated society of another time.

The Great Gatsby, so many people's "favorite book" has immortalized the yeasty spirit that bubbled to the surface in the twenties - sentimental dreaming and disillusioned cynicism which surrounded the charismatic Gatsby and his friends. Waterston, as Narrator Carroway, helps sort out those contradicting values, ambitions, and morals of the period piece. When asked about his role in the $6.2 million Paramount production, Waterston said "... I like the humor and irony of Carroway's point of view, and also his objectivity. He stands apart from the crowd."

Waterston too is standing apart from the crowd, as his versatile talents as actor are being acknowledged. The recent New Yorker review of the New York Shakespearean Festival presentation of the Tempest has much praise for Waterston's current performance as Prospero:

It is an astonishing performance that never loses its urgency and it works. (At least it worked for me who until now considered the voice of John Gielgud in "The Ages of Man" the only acceptable Prospero) ... Even the great speeches do not detain Mr. Waterston. He speaks them well.

In December, Waterston played Tom, Katharine Hepburn's son, in Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie" on ABC Television. But Sam feels his first major break after ten years of theatre work in New York and Hollywood came with his performance in Joseph Papp's production of "Much Ado About Nothing."

His parents, Eliza and George Chychele Waterston, now live in Waterville Valley, N.H. His father for many years headed the English department and taught languages at Brooks School; his mother is an artist and taught in the local schools. Sam attended Pike and the Andover public schools before graduating from Grotton Academy and Yale College.

Tickets for the April 2 benefit premiere of "The Great Gatsby" are available at the Pike School office. Please send self-addressed, stamped envelope. Showtime is 8 p.m.

Ellis Is Commended By Chamber

The Board of Directors of the Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce at their March meeting, formally commended outgoing Chamber Executive Vice President James E. Ellis for his four years of service to the Greater Lawrence Chamber.

In a unanimous vote, the Board instructed President William E. Banton to prepare a letter to publicly commend Ellis for his "invaluable service" to the community as the Chamber's Chief Executive. Ellis will report April 1 to his hometown of Asheville, North Carolina where he will assume the position of Executive Vice President of the Asheville Area Chamber of Commerce.

At the meeting, Ellis addressed the board saying he has mixed feelings leaving Lawrence. He also stated that only an outstanding professional opportunity as this would have been able to make him leave the area which he feels his adopted home.

Ellis began his Chamber management career in 1961 on the staff of the Asheville Chamber. In 1965 he moved to Hickory, North Carolina as that Chamber's Executive and stayed there until January of 1970 when he came to Lawrence.

The Board also approved the appointment of Madeleine C. Abati as acting Executive Vice President of the Chamber. Ms. Abati, an employee of the Lawrence Chamber for the past 17 years, is currently serving as manager of the Lawrence Intown Division of the Chamber. Her appointment is effective April 1 and will continue until the hiring of a new permanent Executive Vice President.

A selection Committee, made up of President Banton, President-Elect George B. Stern, Past Presidents Theodore L. Russem, Roger N. Bower and William F. Lucey, Jr. was also announced. This committee will screen all applicants for the Executive Vice President position and will select a candidate for recommendation to the Board of Directors.

Appointed To Bradford Study Group

Albert P. Manzi of Great Pond Road, North Andover has been named to a Committee on Long Range Goals for Bradford College which will have its first meeting Wednesday, March 27 at the college.

Authorized at the September meeting of Bradford's Board of Trustees, the committee includes representatives of all segments of the Greater Bradford community - trustees, college officers, alumni, faculty members, students, parents and other friends. Its purpose is to study and define the goals that should guide Bradford's activities, particularly its educational program, during the next decade.

Mr. Manzi is the father of Annmarie Manzi, a senior at the college.

The committee will be asked to review Bradford's activities of the last ten years; to examine the changing demands of college education in the United States as they can now be forecast for the next decade; to study the problems Bradford will face in this changing educational environment; and to define the purposes which should guide Bradford's responses to these problems.

The committee will decide how to direct the college in the near and the more distant future, with the question of what kind of college Bradford should be in 1984 the central focus around which decisions will be made. These questions belong not only to Bradford College; they are central to the issue of what a liberal arts education means today and what is going to mean in the next decade.

30 Structures Estimated In Flood Plain Area

THE TOWNSMAN, MARCH 21, 1974

Many streets such as York, Carisbrooke, Argyle and Arundel Street in Shawsheen Village that were flooded in 1936 are not included in the Planning Board's proposed flood plain zone.

Reason for this, according to information supplied by the Planning Board, is selection of the 100-year flood as the standard and the effect of flood control projects constructed upstream since 1936 which have reduced flood hazard areas. In fact, the Corps of Engineers report published in March, 1972, on which the Planning Board based its delineation, states that an IRF or 100-year flood would be about 10 feet lower than the 1936 flood along this part of the Shawsheen River. However, it also points out that it would be about four feet higher elsewhere along the river, that is, approximately from the center of town through Ballardvale to Lowell Junction. Because the flood plain is so narrow in most places along both the Merrimack and Shawsheen Rivers, the Planning Board estimates that only 23 residential structures and seven business on industrial structures actually are within the proposed zone, although some lie close enough so that a precise determination would be needed for construction purposes.

The Planning Board points out that very much larger floods which would affect a bigger area are possible but much less probable. The IRF or 100-year flood was selected because imposition of land use controls for a larger but much less probable flood might cause unnecessary hardship and because it was the standard adopted by the Federal Insurance Administration for participation in the flood insurance program. More properly stated, the 100-year standard represents the flood level that on the average will have a one per cent chance of being equalled or exceeded in any given year. It has also been referred to as the minimum safety flood.

The Federal Insurance Administration prepared a position statement for Congress on its selection of the 100-year standard. The following is a short excerpt from that statement:

First, the term "100-year flood" is probably a misnomer. It is actually what the Corps of Engineers refers to as an "intermediate" flood and is a compromise between minor floods and the Corps' "standard project flood" which is the greatest flood though likely to occur in a given area. Thus, in many cases, the 100-year or intermediate flood is already far below the flood of record.

Actually, the "100-year" flood is simply the flood level that is estimated to have a one per cent chance of occurring each year in a given location. It does not imply that no greater flood is likely to occur nor that such a flood will not happen more than once in every 100 years. Hurricanes Camille and Agnes and this year's Mississippi River floods all involved flooding substantially in excess of the 100-year flood.

In 1972 there were 45 Presidentially declared flood disasters, of which 50 per cent were equal to or greater than the 100-year flood. Thus the real question is whether such a moderate standard is actually adequate in light of recent flood losses and recent excessive building along coastlines and waterways.

In administering the newly enacted Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973, the Federal Insurance Administration is adhering to the 100-year flood standard and the Andover Planning Board

Bank

Without this access, Main and Chestnut street entrances and exits would have to be used and are not considered practicable.

There will be 23 parking spaces developed in the lot subject to town meeting rezoning alone. Current plans in the formation stage, call for about 122 parking spaces in all on the three tiers to be developed below the Main street level.

MacGowan, who appeared before the selectmen Monday night with plans for the development, stressed that the petition before town meeting is presented by ASB Development Corp., which is a wholly-owned subsidiary of the bank.

Purpose of the corporation is to allow the Andover financial institution to develop the property and maintain control over the development. It is the intent of the firm to keep development in harmony with Andover and local merchants.

The bank official said that he had met with abutters to the property on Central street and no objection had been presented. He has also presented the plans to the planning board and chamber of commerce directors.

The selectmen Monday night, while not taking an official stand, looked approvingly at the plans.

The lot to which the Central street lot is to afford access, has been under consideration for development by other firms in the past, but the banking institution is the first to acquire the overall property and move toward improvement of the downtown area, coupled with adequate parking provisions.

Selectmen

April 1 asking that the budget adopted by them, with the $214,000 reduction be adopted.

New Chairman Milton Greenberg, said that it is the hope of the board that the differences can be reconciled prior to town meeting to provide for a smooth flow of the session.

The selectmen had requested the FinCom to include a third column in their report indicating the board's recommendations on the budget items. The FinCom, however, failed to accede to their wishes, stating that time would not permit such action.

Town Manager Austin had some of the FinCom cuts under consideration early this week.

Major reductions are in an equipment outlay account where $39,650 was taken out for the purchase of outside readers for water meters, an attachment which permits the reading of meters without going into private homes.

An additional cut was in the sewer maintenance account where $15,000 was taken by FinCom particularly from the overtime provisions.

The FinCom has also cut the $9,000 mosquito control account, which has been a controversial item in the past.

Summer help for the library has also been deleted at a cost of $5,642 and the pension fund was dropped by $39,400 when county officials said this amount would be sufficient for the coming year.

The manager views the FinCom recommended reductions as in the class of "hopeful" savings and program reductions.

Such items as snow and ice removal are unpredictable and fall in the category of hopeful items. These accounts have realized savings due to weather conditions in the past few years, but there is no way of predicting what will happen in another winter. Signs of savings are evident in the tonnage of salt used in the past three years which has decreased from 2,991 two years ago to 1,911 last year and 1,248 this year.

As for the sewer department account reduction, the manager notes that if a line blocks up on a weekend and the funds have expired, then the problem will have to wait to be resolved on Monday.

Program reductions will be effected by the budget cuts in the library and recreation departments.

Meetings next week may resolve the differences between the FinCom and selectmen, which will be after the FinCom report is en route to the voters of the community and only a few days before the April 1 opening of the annual town meeting.

Re-Elected Chairman Of Board

Thomas P. Eldred has been elected to his third term as chairman of the Andover Housing Authority. Eldred was elected during the annual organization session last week which follows the town election.

John B. White was elected vice chairman, Winston Blake, treasurer and Thomas R. Wallace, assistant treasurer.

Atty. Richard Savrann, the state appointee to the local housing board, was named secretary.

James E. Manning was reappointed by the board as executive director, with Louise A. Roberge, secretary and Walter J. Pendak and Clifford Ross, maintenance men.

Recycling - A Plus For For The Treasury Gym Hockey Program Planned

By Helen M. Eccles
What's so great about old newspapers?
$35 a ton, that's what, - - up from $6 a ton last July, when Andover's recycling program began.

There's a great national shortage of all paper products and the Essex Wastepaper Company in Lawrence, which supplies paper-board manufacturers, paid the Town of Andover $1,878.87 for wastepaper for February alone. The $1,878.87 was for the grocery bags full of newspapers, and some separately tied bundles of folded corrugated cardboard, which residents put out for recycling with their red bags on the first and third rubbish collection days of February.

Add February's $137 net take on the sale of recycled cans and a chunk of the $1200 Andover just realized from recycling several months worth of glass - - the total just about covers the $500 a week the town pays to Andoverite Donald Craig's Industrial Services for picking up recyclables on the same day another contractor picks up the red trash bags.

Andover's Federal Coordinator, John Lewis, who fields citizens' questions about recycling at Town Hall, says that slightly less than 50 per cent of the town bothers to put out recyclables. Check it yourself as you drive down a street when the red bags are out. Yet still the recycling income has begun to pay for the program's cost. "So any increase in recyclable newspapers, bottles or cans, as the other half of the town starts to cooperate, is pure gravy - - dollars flowing into the town's free case, which goes to reduce taxes. That's why the new slogan on red bags reads "Recycling Is Your Investment in Lower Taxes."

Lewis looks to the new Municipal Recycling Auction on Saturday, April 27, as another big money maker for the town's free cash. This spring's auction at the Recreation Park will be a town function, managed by the Recycling Committee appointed by the Town Manager, to give townspeople a chance to get rid of usable articles they no longer need by donating them to the auction. The profits will go into the town's free case, to reduce taxes. Everything will be auctioned off by Ballardvale's Ralph Sharpe and by former Selectman Philip K. Allen in a carnival atmosphere, with coffee, doughnuts, hot dogs and cold drinks set up at the town's recreation center.

The auction idea originated with Lewis, who had been receiving calls from householders wondering what to do with things they no longer need which are too good to throw away. "A woman about to move to Florida had a toboggan, snowshoes, ice skates, a whole truckload of good equipment and furniture she didn't want to take to Florida. She didn't want to have a garage sale or go around asking neighbors if they wanted it, and the landfill was closed. It's amazing what people throw away - they've turned up perfectly good color TVs at the landfill in the past. Just plug them in, they work. We'd rather recycle them to people who want to buy them, and have the money go into the town treasury. So go through your attic and cellar for things to donate to the auction."

Newspapers are the biggest moneymakers in Andover's recycling program, but bottles and cans pay for themselves too. The glass goes to Dayville, Conn., where a glass manufacturer will pay for color-sorted glass to melt down for new bottles.

It's better to reuse glass than to manufacture it from scratch, according to glass people. Why? Because soda ash, a vital ingredient, has become scarce and expensive; also, recycled glass melts at a lower temperature than the raw materials of sand, soda ash, so it saves both energy and wear and tear on the machines to make glass from old glass. So it is worthwhile to separate out glass from our trash for recycling. There's one hitch; the householder must separate the bottles into three grocery bags, when setting it out for collection on the second trash collection day of each month.

Why?
Because no one has been able to invent a machine which can sort the green, amber and clear glass from each other at the plant. Hand labor is too expensive and a little chancy; by that time, much of the glass is broken. If glass of different colors is mixed together for melting down, an undesirable spotted murky glass results. Andover now recycles 25-28 tons of glass per month, and realizes about $250 per month, which would rise with cooperation from more householders.

Recycling of cans netted Andover $137 for February and this amount, too, will rise with greater participation. Andover cans go to the Continental Can Corporation in Malden, which can sort them out by machine, fortunately, and reuses them to make new cans. All householders need to do is open the bottom of the can, and flatten it so it will take less space in the home container and on Donald Craig's trucks which pick up cans on the fourth collection day of each month. The cans bring Andover $20 a ton currently, minus a shipping charge of slightly under $10 a ton, for a net of more than $10 a ton.

John Lewis' view is that the town's recycling program is for everyone. "If your only recycling interest is money, the program has now come into the black with cooperation from about 50 per cent of the town. Every increase in the volume of recycled materials, as some of the other 50 per cent of the town joins the recycling effort, will be all profit - - dollars in the town treasury to reduce taxes. If you're an environmentalist who is interested in recycling for ecological reasons alone, you have plenty of reason to support it. The Wall Street Journal pointed out in November that every ton of paper recycled is equal to 15 trees. At that rate, our monthly newspaper collection of 50-60 tons saved a good 800 trees, by Andover's action alone, besides bringing in more than $1,800 dollars to the treasury.

"And speaking of recycling, save things for the Municipal Recycling Auction in April. We'll have phone numbers to call for auction collection in another week or so."

Morehead Award For P.A. Student

Paul Douglas McGarry, son of Colonel and Mrs. Robert S. McGarry of 5540 High Tor Hill, Columbia, Md., has received a Morehead Award to study at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

The announcement is made today by Hugh G. Chatham of Elkin, N.C., chairman of the Board of Trustees of the John Motley Morehead Foundation.

McGarry is a senior at Phillips Academy in Andover, where he is a proctor, member of the Blue Key Society and captain of the varsity wrestling team.

He is one of 60 young men who have received 1974 Morehead Awards presented to students of superior achievement. Academic standing, character, leadership and ambition are the qualities looked for in a Morehead Scholar.

The scholarships currently are worth $16,300 for out-of-state students for four years of study at UNC.

McGarry's selection followed a year-long screening process which culminated in final interviews in Chapel Hill Feb. 28 - March 4. All finalists who did not receive Morehead Awards were tendered North Carolina Merit Tuition Scholarships funded by the Morehead Foundation.

By 1859, national unions had been founded in the United States by printers, stonecutters, hat finishers, molders, machinists and locomotive engineers, according to "A Brief History of the American Labor Movement," a publication of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Gym Hockey Program Planned

Six gym hockey programs are included among the 175 Spring Term programs being offered by the Andover-North Andover YMCA. Registrations for all are being accepted only at the Andover YMCA office, 10 Brook St. The programs take the form of intra-mural league competition where enrollment is adequate for four or more teams. Groups with small enrollment meet as a class.

Five leagues for boys are planned. In the Andover YMCA building a boys' league for grades 2 and 3 is scheduled for Saturday 9-11 a.m., another for boys in grades 4-6 will meet on Saturdays 11 a.m. - 1 p.m., and a third for boys in grades 6-9 will meet on Wednesdays 2:45 - 4:15 p.m. At the North Andover YMCA building two groups will meet on Saturday morning. A program for grades 1-3 is scheduled 9 - 10:30 a.m. and grades 4-6 from 10:30 - 12 noon.

A program for girls in grades 1-3 will be conducted at the Andover building on Mondays beginning at 3:30 p.m.

During the recently concluded Winter Term program of the YMCA a total of 19 groups were involved in gym hockey. Enrollment totaled 157 with an attendance of 1,448. All the leagues were conducted at the Andover YMCA with only a group of boys in grades 1-3 meeting at the North Andover YMCA building on Monday afternoons as a class.

Four teams were entered in the grade 2-3 league with the Bruins defeating the Canadians for the League title. Members of the Champion Bruins include: Tom Powers, Dennis Regan, Daniel Regan, Steve Savoy, Tom Maginnis, Larry Torrisi, Bryan Looney. Six teams were entered in the League for boys grades 4-6. The first half winners, the Penguins, defeated the second half winners, the Rangers, in a play-off game with a score of 7-6. Members of the first place Penguins team included: Robert Barry, Mark Walsh, Ira Gold, Andy Dion, Mike Dion, Paul Thoday, Scott James, Michael Flynn and Richard Callaghan.

In the four team league for boys grades 6-9, the Black Hawks, undefeated in regular season play, defeated the Flames in the play-offs 8-0. A sportsmanship award was presented to Don Cunliffe. Award winning members of the Black Hawks were: Robert Park, Mike Brennan, Andy Sambucco, Mike Franzese, Dennis Griffin, Chris Veillette and Dave Wilson.

The Crusaders defeated the Sharks 7-3 in the final game of the league for girls in grades 4-6. The sportsmanship award went to Laurel Dana. Individual awards were presented to the following members of the winning Crusaders: Mary Ellen Wesson, Katie Scanlon, Jackie Cracraft, Mary Reming, Melissa Bachner, Lisa Reynolds, Kathy Bolduc.

Irish Fortnight Series Continues At College

The "Irish Fortnight," a unique series of free public lectures by Ireland's top cultural authorities, will be presented at 7:30 p.m. through March 31 at Merrimack College.

The series, which has been endorsed by the President of Ireland, will collectively cover the cultural inter-relationships between Ireland and Western Civilization in these respective disciplines: Archaeology, Art, Folklore, History, Literature, Music, Painting and Theatre. The Fortnight is being co-sponsored here by Merrimack College and the Irish American Cultural Institute.

Among the lecturers are Edward Golden, one of Ireland's best known actor-directors and a 25-year participant in the world renowned Abbey Theatre. Others with equally impressive credentials will lecture in these fields: Basil Payne, Entertainment; Paddy Moloney, Music; Kevin Danaher, Folklore; Brian Ferran, Painting; Seamus Deane, Literature; Donal McCartney, History; Brendan O Buachalla, Literature; Etienne Rynne, Art; John Murphy, History; and Michael Herity, Archaeology.

The Honorable Erskine Childers, the President of Ireland and Patron of the Institute, recently endorsed the Fortnight as "renewing pleasant memories for those who have already visited Ireland or whose forebears came from this land, while opening to strangers our island and its history with a rewarding view of Irish life and culture."

Dr. Eoin McKiernan, who arranged the two-week program and is Founder and President of the Institute, noted that all lectures are free and that no solicitation of contributions will be made. He said this city was selected because of the growing interest here in Ireland's contribution of world culture.

The "Irish Fortnight" schedule of lectures follows:

March 21, Painting, B. Ferran; March 22, Literature, S. Deane; March 23, History, D. McCartney; March 24-25, Literature, B. O Buachalla; March 26, Theatre, E. Golden; March 27, History, D. McCartney; March 28-29, Art, E. Rynne; March 30, History, J. Murphy; March 31, Archaeology, M. Herity.

Further information on lectures is available from the college switchboard.

Congress established an eight-hour day for federal employees in 1868, according to "A Brief History of the American Labor Movement," published by the U.S. Department of Labor.

Zamkochian To Appear In Methuen

Berj Zamkochian, organist of the Boston Symphony Orchestra and Boston Pops, will present an organ recital on the world famous Methuen Memorial Music Hall organ on Sunday afternoon, March 24 at 3 p.m. The concert, to benefit the Gomidas Organ Fund, will include works by Widor, Bach, Bossi, Atayan and Liszt.

The Methuen Memorial Music Hall organ was built in Germany in 1857 at a cost of $153,000. Built by the firm of Walcker, the tonal design was made by the great composer Franz Liszt. Until the turn of the century and the building of Symphony Hall, the organ dominated the stage of the old Boston Music Hall. Since the massive instrument could not be placed in the new Symphony Hall, it was sold to a private owner in Methuen, who built for the instrument, a unique and very special concert hall.

¹⁰ Nicolai Gedda To Appear In Concert On Sunday

THE TOWNSMAN, MARCH 21, 1974

Metropolitan Opera tenor Nicolai Gedda will perform in concert at Merrimack College on Sunday, March 24 at 8:30 p.m. in the Collegiate Chapel on the college's North Andover campus.

Nicolai Gedda's concert will be the final event in the 1973-74 Celebrity Series at Merrimack College. Other featured artists in the Merrimack College Celebrity Series, now in its sixth year, have included Canadian vocalists, Lois Marshall and Maureen Forrester, Flamenco guitarist Carlos Montoya, and the famed American pianist, Van Cliburn.

The most recorded tenor in history with 109 albums to his credit, Nicolai Gedda has already sung four roles at the Metropolitan Opera this season. He has appeared as Gherman in "Pique Dame," Rodolfo in "La Boheme," Elvino in "La Sonnambula," and Don Ottavio in "Don Giovanni." His Fall concerts in New York this season have included Verdi's "Requiem" with the Cleveland Orchestra and "Excerpts from Palestrina" by Pfitzner with the New Jersey Symphony.

Following his concert at Merrimack, Nicolai Gedda flies to Europe to complete the season with performances at La Scala, the Paris Opera, and the Vienna State Opera.

Born in Sweden of Russian-Swedish parents, Nicolai Gedda studied at the Royal Conservatory of Music in Stockholm. He made his professional debut at the Royal Opera, Stockholm in 1952 as Chaploun in "Le Postillon de Longjumeau." In 1953, he made his debut at La Scala as Don Ottavio in "Don Giovanni" and sang at the Paris Opera in 1954 as Huon in "Oberon."

Nicolai Gedda made his Metropolitan Opera debut during the 1957-58 season in the title role of Gounod's "Faust," and has been a regular member of the Metropolitan Opera since then. He created the tenor lead in Menotti's "The Last Savage" at the Metropolitan in 1964.

One of the tenor's most cherished honors was conferred upon him in 1965, when King Gustav VI titled him "Court Singer to the Royal Court of Sweden," an honor accorded fewer than twelve artists in over 200 years. Nicolai Gedda's extensive vocal repertoire covers the works of modern and classical composers, operas as well as folk songs, which he sings with fluency in ten languages.

A limited number of $4 tickets for the Nicolai Gedda concert are available at the McQuade Library at Merrimack College.

St. Robert's Division Champs

By Rick Harrison

St. Robert's B, using its superior speed and a potent fast break to open the game up, raced to a 49-37 victory over West Parish A in their showdown battle for the Senior Division championship of the Andover Church Basketball League last week at the West Junior High.

All-around hustling efforts by divisional scoring champ Joe Terrion (192 points) and Rick Collins sparked St. Robert's B to its ninth straight win and a final record of 9-1. West A closed at 8-2.

Other season-ending action saw St. Augustine A upset third-place St. Robert's A, 37-20, while St. Augustine B trimmed West Parish B, 45-35, and Bible Chapel posted a 2-0 forfeit triumph over South.

Copping The Title

St. Robert's B outscored West A in every quarter and trailed only once (8-7), but the 12 point difference at the end was the biggest lead the champs had in the game.

Coach Don Terrion's victors inched to a 7-4 first period edge, as both teams were tight with numerous turnovers and missed shots.

West A took its brief 8-7 lead after quick buckets by Steve Serley and Eric Sullivan to open the second period, but a pair of fast-break lay-ups by Joe Terrion after fine outlet passes from Collins gave St. Robert's a lead it never relinquished.

Eight Straight

With the lead only 12-10 midway through the second frame, St. Robert's reeled off eight unanswered points to make it 20-10.

Kevin Fogarty played a key part in the surge by swishing two 10-foot baseline shots and escaping on a fast-break, while Collins and Terrion penetrated for some driving hoops.

West A refused to wilt, however, and chipped away to cut the deficit to 25-20 by half-time. Steve Serley, who pocketed eight points in the period, hit several long bombs from the corner.

An 8-1 run by St. Robert's at Collins chipped in 16 points, several key rebounds and steals and a half-dozen pretty assists.

Kevin Fogarty tossed in 6 points, big Bob Moynihan netted 3 markers and numerous rebounds before fouling out midway through the last period, and solo baskets were bagged by Lanio and Frank Griggs.

Other St. Robert's standouts included Mark Spires, Mark Lalond, Owen Keegan, Dave LaFleur and Kenny LaFleur.

Steve Serley paced West A with 16 points and some effective work on the defensive boards. Bob Zwicker collected 9 points and also rebounded with authority.

ST. ROBERT'S B secured the Senior Division championship of the Andover Church Basketball League last week, closing out the campaign with a 9-1 final ledger. Front row (l-r): Bob Moynihan, Mark Lalonde, Ken LaFleur, Mark Spires and Owen Keegan. Back row (l-r): Vic Lanio, Dave LaFleur, Kevin Fogarty, Coach Don Terrion, divisional scoring champ Joe Terrion, Rick Collins and Frank Griggs. St. Robert's B lost its opening game by one point, but then proceeded to reel off nine straight victories.

the start of the second half, again sparked by Terrion and Collins, jacked the lead up to 33-21. Later in the stanza Vic Lanio hit a key basket on a shot that struck the back rim, bounced high in the air and dropped cleanly through the net.

Last Challenge

Trailing 37-27 entering the fourth quarter, West A made one final run at St. Robert's and sliced the difference to seven points (42-35) behind the accurate foul shooting of Serley, Sullivan, Zwicker and Mark Ketzler.

Once again it was Terrion and Collins to the rescue, as Joe scooped in a bad angle driving lay-up off the boards and Rick pulled down an offensive rebound and hit a 10-foot turnaround shot.

Final Stats

Terrion finished the evening's activities with 20 points, the sixth time in nine games he reached or topped that figure.

Eric Sullivan closed with 5 points, Mark Ketzler swished 3 markers and single baskets were notched by Chris Elliott and Carl Wetterberg.

Dave Heidt also played well for the losers.

Arnold, Moriarty Hot

St. Augustine A, which finished strong by winning three of its last four games to tie the Bible Chapel for fourth place, handed St. Robert's A its third loss in succession with the convincing 37-20 romp.

The victors were never in danger, bolting to a 7-0 first period lead and stretching it to 15-6 by halftime and 20-8 after three.

Jim Arnold, whose hot hand produced double figure performances in every game down the stretch, poured in 12 during the finale. This included 8 markers in the fourth session.

Mark Moriarty dumped through 11 points, Bob Kramer 7, Tom Curtin 4 and Jim Morin 3 points.

St. Robert's A, perhaps flat after losing two close games to drop it from the title race, was powered by Bill Ashe with 8 points.

T.J. Caveney chipped in 4 markers and solo fourth quarter baskets were garnered by John Carroll, John Kleschinsky, Chris Fortune, Mike Carroll and John Weitz. Joe Koravos also turned in a fine two-way effort.

Reaching .500

St. Augustine B, featuring three players in double figures, won its second straight game and closed at .500 after its 45-35 conquest of West Parish B.

Once again the issue was never in doubt. St. Augustine "streaked" to a 15-3 first period lead and upped the cushion to 27-10 by intermission. West B chopped the deficit slowly over the last two quarters.

Shawn Reming flipped in 16 points, Dave Hajj 15 and John Silva 12 to propel the victor's triangular attack.

Tim Paris canned a first period deuce, and other standout players were Mike Brennan, Ted Paris, Tom Busta and Mark Ruggerio.

The West B honors were shared equally by Jeff Smith and Scott Bitler with 12 points each. Ed Goodman stuffed 7 markers, and fourth quarter two-pointers were registered by Tim Sweeney and Andy Campbell.

Joel Smith and Mark Paro also played well for the losers.

Team Stats

St. Robert's B finished as the highest scoring quintet with 517 points and a 51.7 per game average. St. Robert's A boasted the best defense, allowing 217 points for a 21.7 mark.

The Raiders, meanwhile, put it all together for the first time and nudged the Lakers by a 14-10 score.

Tight Struggle

Although West Parish's only lead of the game was 2-0 following Alex deConstant's early bucket, the Globetrotters had all they could do in preserving the undefeated season to make them the lone unblemished team out of 29 in the league's three divisions.

Junior Division scoring champ Ted Kelley (118 points) once again sparked the Trotters with 8 points. Single baskets were added by Dick Kelley and Steve Farrington.

Alex deConstant pocketed 6 points for West Parish, while Scott Harnden notched 2 markers and Tom McDonald swished a free throw.

Also playing well for the champs were Tim Corkery, Mark Paradis and Greg McDaniel. Other West Parish standouts included Steve Johnson, Roger Henderson, Andy Johnson and Jimmy Lowe.

Terrion, Romano Hot

The Raiders clicked on all cylinders thanks to the red-hot shooting of Jim Terrion with a season-high 10 points, and Tony Romano who pumped through 4 markers.

Brian Moriarty tossed in 6 points and Matt O'Hara bagged 4 more in a losing Lakers' cause.

Other Raiders' leaders were Mike and Ed Damphousse, Tom O'Brien and Bob DeGregorio (no relation to Ernie). The Lakers received top-notch efforts from Dave Kirkland, John Kramer, Paul Marad and Jeff Fleming.

All-Star Game

The Junior Division was slated to conduct a pair of All-Star Games and a shooting contest to conclude all activities for 1973-74 last Tuesday night, after TOWNSMAN presstime.

Buddy Werner League

By Carrie Smotrich

This past Saturday the first Buddy Werner League Regional Championship was held at Pats Peak in Henniker, N.H. This meet, which was organized by Ed Hostetter of Andover, will become an annual event in which all Eastern states having BWL programs will compete. This year's competition which was hosted by Massachusetts saw teams from Massachusetts, Vermont and New York competing.

As in all the BWL ski meets, competition was both at the team and individual levels. In this meet the Massachusetts team was victorious with New York placing second and Vermont third. All three competing teams were awarded beautiful silver trays by ESA. Individual awards were made in division I, Boys and Girls 12 and 13; division II, Boys and Girls 9, 10 and 11 and division III, Boys and Girls 8 and under. Division awards to the first three finishers were Olympic size gold, silver and bronze medals.

The Massachusetts team included all racers who placed in the top five positions at the recent Eastern Mass. Finals held at the Waltham Ski Area. Representing Andover were Elizabeth Gardner, Mike Smotrich, Dave Roberts and Jim Barrett. All of the Andover racers contributed to the Massachusetts teams winning efforts with Mike Smotrich leading the scoring with a second place silver medal in the 8 and under division. Mike, who has been a consistent winner this year, won his silver medal in spite of a fall on his second run. Dave Roberts won a third place bronze medal in a close competition with Rich Wholley of Bradford and Steve Willey of Sudbury in boys 9, 10 and 11. Elizabeth Gardner placed fifth in the girls 8 and under and Jim Barrett placed fifth in the boys 9, 10 and 11 competition. Other Andover racers who earned points were Carrie Smotrich and Rick Heislein. Massachusetts racers who acted as fore-runners were Laurie Harris and Cindy Harris of Bradford, Sue Landy, Doug Roberts and Greg Eaton of Andover. The course was set by Andover's Ted Sutton. Contributing to the smooth running of the championship were: Robert Thomson, President ESA; Richard D. Hanson, Director ESA/Racing Chairman at Pats Peak; Ed Hostetter, Chairman BWL-ESA; Carrie Smotrich, Secretary BWL-ESA; Ted Sutton, Head Coach BWL-ESA; Bud Eaton, Chairman Massachusetts and Rhode Island BWL; Gerry Sears, Vermont BWL; Hays Penfield, President Eastern Mass. 'Catering' Toward Public Service

By Linda S. Corbett

Phillip Gonet doesn't mind telling you it's not easy to catch him at home.

A Merrimack College senior, Phillip is a political science major, though he's treasurer of the business club -- to say nothing of his participation in intramural football, basketball, hockey and baseball.

He's also a member of the representative town meeting in Danvers, where he lives, part-time cook and sometimes head chef at the Harp and Bard there, and last, but not least, a three-day-a-week intern in town administration in the Andover town house.

"I tell my folks (who now live in Batavia, N.Y.), to call me at 2 a.m.," he says, "I'm pretty sure of being home then."

As for the future, Phillip hopes to combine a public administration and law degree in graduate school -- but for the moment sits secure with one acceptance under his belt, (Pennsylvania State University) while he waits to hear from several others.

A native of Danvers, Phillip started working at the Harp and Bard, doing odd jobs in the kitchen, when he was in high school. When he graduated, he agreed to go help open the new Harp and Bard in Norwood, as head bus boy. But the very first day, "one of the cooks didn't show up, and they told me I was going to cook."

"I couldn't boil a potato when I started," he says. "I could cook a hamburger or maybe a sandwich, and that's about it."

Leo Lemieux, a French chef at the Harp and Bard at the time, "taught me everything I know," Phillip says.

While he works parttime during the school year, he works full-time -- maybe 60 hours a week -- in the summers, and has served as interim head chef there for the past two years.

One of his favorite foods to prepare is Steak Diane -- a sliced steak that is flamed with brandy.

I like to really "whoof" it up, he says. "It always gets quite a reaction from the customers" -- who watch it all at ringside, since the kitchen is out in the open.

Phillip also likes to make fresh vegetables, though he never liked them as a child. It wasn't until after he started cooking them that he found out how good they are.

The wildest time of the year, he says, was the past weekend. "Everyone thinks they're Irish on St. Patty's Day," he says, and they turn out in droves.

About the time he got into cooking, he got into politics too, running at 19 to fill a vacancy left by a town meeting member -- and winning. He ran again in 1973 for a one-year term, and this year, if he decides to run again, it would be for a three-year stint.

It was his interest in town government that led to the internship here -- he was recommended for the gratis job (his pay is six credits toward graduation), by Dr. James St. Germain, chairman of the political science department at Merrimack.

St. Germain, he says, has been promoting public administration, recommending that he take courses in business -- economics, accounting, statistics, computer science.

His internship, Phillip says, is applying those courses from the business department to theory learned in political science.

On regular basis, he has been working with Town Manager J. Maynard Austin and Assistant Manager Sheldon Cohen, and has also been helping John Lewis with the "red bag" project. He checks on the recycling program, for instance, or recently he left notices for residents of changes in their garbage pick-up routes. He has also been making a lot of charts for various budget presentations.

In addition, as an intern, he has had to develop a major project acceptable to both Austin and St. Germain. That project is a comparison of the open town meeting, as Andover has, and the representative town meeting, such as Danvers has.

While the study is yet underway, he admits his prejudices for the representative type, "because it has worked so well in Danvers."

"My main question," he says, "is how a town this large can function with an open town meeting." Most town managers, he says, prefer the representative type, as a more effective way of governing.

"Townpeople will come in here and tell you that the open town meeting is the last form of pure democratic government," he says. "But I think it can be undemocratic because it is a public forum for interest groups. It's easy for a controversial item, such as a dumping site, to be defeated by 600 people, when the

Another consideration is that if there's a issue, a lot of people not, there may be a quorum.

Another consideration, he says, is that if there's a controversial issue, a lot of people turn out. If not, there may be trouble getting a quorum.

On the other hand, he says, elected representatives feel a greater responsibility to show up. If they aren't there, they won't get the votes next time around.

He said he also feels that the same people who are active at open town meeting would be the ones to serve as representatives.

In any case, he feels his project should help make Andover aware that there is another choice.

Phillip says he feels today's public administrator has to be fairly proficient in law -- hence his goal to get that degree in somewhere along the line. But, he feels, there's plenty of time to make his career decisions.

Meanwhile, he's playing a lot of golf, bowling, cooking, studying.

"I have a lot of things to do," he says, with an absolutely straight face.

Rotary To Present Pops Concert

The public is cordially invited to attend a Merrimack Valley Philharmonic Pops Concert at Central Catholic Gymnasium on Thursday, April 4. A champagne hour commences at 7 p.m., with the concert at 8.

Sponsor of the annual fund-raising event is the Lawrence Rotary Club Scholarship Program. Tickets are available at various locations in Greater Lawrence and at the door on the night of the concert. Donations of $5 per person will be accepted.

The funds raised from the event will be used for scholarships awarded annually to graduates of Greater Lawrence high schools.

M.S. Degree

March 15, Alfred University announced the January 1974 graduation of Mark R. Powers of 13 Kingston St., North Andover. Powers was awarded a master of science degree in education.

Stephen G. Kurtz, Dean of the College at Hamilton College, has been elected Principal of The Phillips Exeter Academy in Exeter, N.H. The announcement was made by Dr. Calvin H. Plimpton, President of the Trustees, and James A. Newman, Chairman of the Search Committee. Mr. Kurtz, who will assume the principalship on July 1, 1974, will succeed Richard W. Day, Principal since 1964. Mr. Day has been named Principal of The Montclair Kimberley Academy in Montclair, N.J.

Ends Training

Carol E. Emberly, a senior at Notre Dame College, Manchester, N.H., has successfully completed supervised teacher training, a requirement for teacher certification, by spending a semester at F.C. Underhill School, Hooksett, N.H. Mrs. Emberly, of 5 Stinson Road, Andover, is an elementary education major.

On Dean's List

Mark E. McGovern, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester A. McGovern, has been named to the Dean's list at St. Francis College, Biddeford, Maine, for exceptional scholastic work during the first semester of the current academic year.

He is majoring in Elementary Education at St. Francis College and is presently a student with advanced standing.

What Our Readers Say-

To The Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

I am not a frequent letter writer but I must share my amusement at the frequency of the phrase "a mandate back to basics" in the news reports of the Andover elections. It's almost as though we had to be reminded who won and why.

In terms of what it takes to win, the victors have certainly scored a sufficient margin to come out on top. No one could question that. However, a little study of the vote, in my opinion, tempers the strength of the so-called "mandate". Sixty per cent of those who bothered to vote amounts to about one-fourth of the registered voters. That is, one person in four favored the top vote getter.

On a precinct by precinct basis, about 1/3 of those voting favored the winners, with the notable exception of precinct 6, where the vote was rather evenly divided among the top four candidates each receiving about one-fourth of the votes cast. This study should not be interpreted as an effort to detract from the significance of winning, but rather as an observation of the peculiarities of a "vote for two" slate.

No candidate received a majority of the votes in any precinct, but because of variations in the way the candidates were paired by the voters, two emerge as winners. Furthermore, as the number of candidates increases, the number of votes needed to win decrease.

In view of these facts, I hope that the objectives expressed by the voters can be achieved with a generous measure of common sense and that those who are interested in the education of our children continue to keep a watchful eye on the fulfillment of so called "mandates".

Accounting

It would appear that we are now in the pre-town meeting debate on establishing the tax rate.

The Finance Committee has gone to press with its recommendations on the municipal budget for 1974-'75, and made some substantial cuts along the way.

The budget cuts are over and above those already made by the selectmen who labored over the town manager's original budget presentation last December.

A week ago the selectmen viewed the FinCom suggested cuts as "fly-speck accounting," a term we find particularly appropriate.

It might not be fashionable to look askance at the FinCom predictions of further tax rate cuts, as predicted. But, we feel that the action of the FinCom in practically extracting pepper from a barrel with boxing gloves, leaves something to be desired.

The selectmen, in their budget examinations with the town manager for the past several weeks, perused each item, line by line seeking justification for the expense.

We feel they did an adequate job in providing a true economic picture for Andover voters - no frills, just pure municipal needs.

The FinCom apparently looks upon the budget differently, and either is seeking postponement of some projects, or establishing a hopeful economy.

Further meetings are scheduled between the FinCom and the selectmen in the remaining days before the annual town meeting begins on April 1.

It would be in the best interests of the town, if the selectmen and FinCom could agree on the budget figures to be presented to town meeting prior to April 1.

We see no areas where the differences are irreconcilable.

Based on cursory examination of the figures submitted by the selectmen, if approved, there is still some room for pleasant surprises when the official tax rate setting time rolls around.

Enforcement

The selectmen appear reluctant to arm the local police with sufficient enforcement power to prevent public drinking on streets, parks and public buildings in Andover.

Two articles will be before town meeting this year, which will ask the creation of bylaws to prohibit public drinking, a problem faced by local officials last summer.

Action taken at that time resulted in the selectmen regulating use of parks and property under their jurisdiction as park commissioners.

The bylaw, which is being presented to town meeting in articles 52 and 53 of the warrant, provides the police with the power of enforcing the no drinking ban throughout the town, rather than at selective points as may be designated by the selectmen.

The problem at The Park, across from the East Junior High school and at "The Wall," in Elm Square, last summer was abated somewhat by two factors, according to Police Chief David L. Nicoll. The lowering of the drinking age to 18 sent those so inclined to legal places to imbibe. The weather was also a factor in preventing youthful gatherings.

The selectmen seem somewhat inclined to continue to ask the police to halt such problems when they arise by issuing no drinking directives for the effected areas.

This, as we see it, does not afford the police with sufficient power to do their job. It leads to a brush-fire attack to a problem - regulating areas as they arise.

The broader powers afforded the police through enactment of a bylaw which allows arrests to be made if persons are found drinking or in possession of alcoholic beverages, provides the enforcement agency with sufficient tools to do their job.

It also relies on the discretionary action of the police, or the use of common sense, something we believe the department members possess.

In other words, we do not foresee any innocent person being arrested walking through the park with recently purchased refreshment from a package store, which some selectmen view as a possibility.

Due to the liberal views of the courts, police work today is, at best, difficult. But armed with sufficient tools they can do their job.

As for this particular problem, public drinking, and resultant littering of public ways with cans and bottles, it appears it can best be remedied by enactment of an adequate bylaw as requested by Chief Nicoll.

We recommend a YES vote on Articles 52 and 53.

The Chairman

It will be interesting to view the proceedings of the board of selectmen in the year ahead, with Milton Greenberg as its chairman.

During his first term in office, Mr. Greenberg was constantly annoyed by the statutory incidentals of the office, such as pole locations and street openings for utilities.

He has also been desirous of emphasizing the role of the selectmen as the policy makers of the town.

At his first meeting this week, he asked his colleagues to prepare lists of subjects for future meetings. He will then sit down with the town manager and schedule such items for consideration at future meetings.

We anticipate that Mr. Greenberg will be bringing to the office some of the practices which have led his industrial firm to success.

Off The Top Of The Desk

The first robin of the spring has been spotted hereabouts.

Rita Sherwood of Andover spotted the robust redbreast on the lawn of the former Pike school property on Porter Road Monday afternoon.

We hope that Tuesday's brief reminder of winter in the form of snow, did not prove discouraging and that the robin will be more cognizant of the calendar which indicates that spring officially arrived here on Wednesday.

For the benefit of those who are lulled into complacency at elections with the feeling of what does one vote mean, this reminder from Ipswich.

A recount looms there as the result of Mrs. Annette George recently winning a school committee seat by one vote over incumbent Chairman Robert K. Weatherall.

Regardless of the outcome of the recount, there is significance in the single vote margin.

An interesting item in the latest edition of Massachusetts Wildlife, the publication of the Massachusetts Division of Fisheries and Game focuses on new life for the Merrimack.

It features the movement of salmon and shad up the river and use of the fishways at the Lawrence and Lowell dams. It is indicative of the abating of pollution in the river.

Bell Labs engineers at Chester, N.J., have added a new twist to plowing that may help the Bell System put more telephone cable underground.

They have developed an experimental vibrating plow that enables small tractors to do the job of large tractors in many cable-burying operations, making the job more economical.

The plow's unique design causes the blade to vibrate rapidly in a circle (instead of just up and down, or back and forth), reducing by 10 to 20 times the force required to draw the blade through the ground. This means the plow could be drawn by a rubber-tired vehicle one-fifth the size of large metal-tracked vehicles (such as bulldozers) now required to pull conventional plows.

The plow was designed to help the Bell System speed and ease cable-burying jobs, and at the same time control costs. The Bell System, the world's largest user of cable, last year buried 58,753 miles of sheathed cable. Its policy is to bury all new cable whenever feasible, with an ultimate goal of having no Bell System wires above ground. The new plow would handle cable up to two inches in diameter, which includes about 85 per cent of the cable now buried in the Bell System.

A prototype of the "superplow," in tests under typical field conditions:

- Proved effective in hard and rocky soils.
- Proved effective in frozen soil.
- Demonstrated it would be feasible to design a plow that could be extended from either side of the tractor, and still be effective.

A hard-rubber suspension system on the shaker assembly also isolates the plow vibration from the frame, a problem common with conventional vibrating plows.

Louis J. Scerbo, project engineer, said Bell Labs was discussing the design with interested manufacturing firms.

Down the Years with The Townsman

75 Years Ago - March, 1899

Baseball has received quite an impetus in town this year. The boys at Punchard have formed a team, purchased uniforms and worked on development of a diamond. The playing field this year will be located in the rear of the Punchard building and running north and south instead of east and west.

The sanitary condition of the town house is to be improved. The selectmen have ordered adequate plumbing and mapped out the plans for the improvements.

The selectmen have received a letter from J.E. Pitman, the contractor, informing them that plans to extend Barnard street to Bartlet street will cause severe damage to the property he leases at the corner of Park and Bartlet.

Congressman Knox has announced that he will make his summer home here in Andover, leasing the house on Main street owned by Mrs. C.E. Briggs. The Briggs family will summer in Lexington.

A homeopathic physician has located at the residence formerly occupied by Mrs. C.A. Booth on Punchard Avenue. Dr. Clarke comes here from Wellesey where he has an excellent reputation.

50 Years Ago - March, 1924

To the amusement of all, a piece of motor fire apparatus clanged outside the town hall Saturday afternoon as vote on the purchase of such equipment for the fire department was voted upon. The truck was brought from the Boston Auto Show for display purposes.

Garbage collection at a cost of $2,000 and the swimming beach program at $2,000 are new to the budget approved at town meeting in the amount of $473,270.

W.C. Crowley, speaking for the Punchard scholars and expressing the need for such facilities, led a successful fight for an appropriation of $4,500 for bleachers at the playstead at town meeting.

Frederick S. Boutwell of the Andover Savings Bank will discuss, "Thrift From A Banker's Viewpoint," before the Shawsheen PTA tonight.

The new salaries for town officers include $1,000 for the town clerk annually and $1,800 for the treasurer. The clerk of the selectmen will receive $400.

25 Years Ago - March, 1949

Punchard won the Class C Tech Tourney at Boston Garden Saturday night topping Monsignor Prevost, 56-48 in overtime. Chetson and Deveaux starred.

The League of Women Voters will give the second in a series of radio broadcasts, "Accent on Andover," this week. Speakers will be Mrs. David Darling, Mrs. J. Kendrick Butler and Miss Miriam Putnam.

Physical Education Director Donald D. Dunn is seeking use of a trampoline for the annual school gym exhibit in April. If obtained he will have students from Gardner High school give an exhibition.

Gordon Colquhoun was elected chairman of the school committee this week with William A. Doherty named secretary. Receiving votes for chairman were Mrs. Dorothy Partridge and Atty. Vincent Stulgis.

10 Years Ago - March, 1964

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the new Knights of Columbus home on Osgood street took place Sunday.

Andover High's gym team won the state tournament in Springfield last weekend.

The selectmen were unable to solve the impasse between local boards, neighbors and owners of the Florence street business lot.

Solid Waste Exhibition Planned By Chamber

The Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with the Greater Lawrence Solid Waste Committee and the Massachusetts Bureau of Solid Waste Disposal, is planning a Solid Waste Exhibition April 17 - 20 at the Methuen Mall.

Chamber Solid Waste Task Force Chairman Donald W. Danforth, whose committee is coordinating the event for the Chamber, stated this week that letters of interest have been sent to more than 25 firms across the country involved in the solid waste processing field. The event, according to Danforth, is being held to "acquaint the people of the area, as well as public officials of the Merrimack Valley communities, of the tremendous technological advances in the field of solid waste processing. We want to show that solid waste processing is no longer a burning dump or a smoky incinerator."

The names of the firms were gathered from lists of companies which have bid on other new solid waste facilities in the New England area. The program is expected to highlight new advances in resource recovery and energy conversion, areas which many experts feel will turn the processing of solid waste into a profit-making business in the future.

The Greater Lawrence area has been designated the state's top priority for the establishment of a regional solid waste facility and district by the state Bureau of Solid Waste Disposal, headed by Alden R. Cousins. Mr. Cousins has been meeting regularly with the Greater Lawrence Solid Waste Committee, made up of officials of the four local communities, in an attempt to arrive at a solution to the region's growing solid waste problem.

Representatives of every Merrimack Valley community are being invited to attend the exhibition. The proposed facility would possibly have the capacity to process solid waste from communities outside the Greater Lawrence area.

It is generally accepted that a new facility for Greater Lawrence should be completed within three years because of current fill-up projections in local landfills and the termination of contracts between Lawrence, Andover and private solid waste firms.

The Douglas-fir tree, giant of the Pacific Northwest, is the most valuable tree in the U.S. It supplies the world market with more products for man's use than any other species of tree, the Massachusetts Audubon Society says.

Top Scientists

The Sixth Grade students at West Elementary school have presented a Science Exhibit for their parents and their fellow students in other grades.

The exhibits were designed by each of the students in fulfillment of Project Pack assignment that they were assigned in November. Visiting parents voted for their favorite projects in four categories.

The first prize winners were Sandra Curtis, Most Scientific project and Most Interesting Project, The Life of a Chick; Thomas Dengler and Eric DiDio, Most Artistic Project, A Beaver Dam; and a tie for Most Original Project between Daniel Sirois with The Suspension Bridge and the team of Glen Rousseau and David Fogarty with the Underground Fort.

Quinn To Meet With Democrats

Atty. General Robert Quinn will attend the open forum sponsored by the Andover Democratic Town Committee on Thursday evening, March 21 at the Andover Memorial Hall Library at 8 p.m.

Adding to the panel discussion on Solid Wastes will be members of the town delegation who recently toured reclamation sites. Herbert Oshan will explain the capabilities of two plants; one, at East Bridgewater which can reclaim a wide variety of materials such as non-ferrous metals, and garbage residue, useful for fertilizers, and another center in Holliston, which reclaims paper so that it can be used as fuel in industrial companies.

Mass. Transportation, a subject of great concern to everyone, will be the other topic discussed by a panel of experts.

The public is invited to participate.

Textile Exhibit

An exhibition, "Textiles Today," a presentation by a group of artists working with textiles is being presented by the Concord Art Association through April 7.

The exhibit is on display at 15 Lexington Road, Route 2A, Concord, from 11 to 4:30 Tuesday through Saturdays and 2 to 4:30 on Sunday.

Senior Citizens Honored

At the annual banquet of the Friendly Circle, held recently at the Vocational School Coffee Shop, 18 senior citizens of the Andover Baptist Church learned the identities of the Friendly Circle members who had been their Secret Pals for the past year. The "Golden Agers" found their Secret Pal dinner companion by matching halves of "jigsaw cut" paper hearts.

Before dinner was served to the 43 members and guests attending, Mrs. William Hughes, chairman of devotions, read an appropriate devotional poem on Friendship.

Mrs. Robert Stocks, Mrs. Norman Guild, Mrs. Charles Towne and Miss Helen Thompson were in charge of arrangements while Mrs. Lyle Estell had charge of the program.

Following the dinner the program included a bathing beauty contest held with old time photographs which the senior citizens had been asked to bring. Tears of laughter dotted the paper ballots used by Circle members as they voted for the pictured "beauty" they thought best. Mrs. Edith Bell's picture won the honor.

Another fun filled hour was spent finding a prize for each honored guest as they answered such fun questions as who had the smallest feet and the biggest waistline. The senior citizens who attended the banquet were: Katherine Ward, Hazel Wilson, Edith Bell, Harold Livingston, Harry Butler, Marion Norton, Florence Dennison, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Newman, Irene Foster, Mary Hunter, Edith Stevens, Eudora Shattuck, Helen Stott, Ruth Ward, Lena Heinz and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Otis, former long time members of the church who came from their present home in Sanborneville, N.H. to be present at the banquet.

Samel Honored

Hiram M. Samel of Andover, was presented a certificate of recognition for his participation with the junior varsity squash team at the annual winter athletic awards dinner at St. Paul's School, Concord, N.H.

Festival Of Hymns

In response to a nostalgia for some of the lovely old hymns, the Free Christian Church has arranged a Hymn Festival for this coming Sunday evening, to begin at 7 p.m.

Many requests have already been received from members of the congregation and other requests may be sent in to the church office before Sunday. While the festival will cover a lot of congregational singing it will also include items by the senior and junior choirs as well as soloists.

Following the Hymn Festival there will be a coffee fellowship in the upper parish hall.

This event is open to all who wish to share in it. An offering will be taken during the evening.

Quiet Lenten Meditations

The public is invited to attend Quiet Lenten Meditations from 12 noon to 12:30 every Wednesday through Lent at the Free Christian Church.

The service consists of thirty minutes beginning with a Scripture Reading and closing with a prayer. Soft devotional organ music provides a background for meditation. Worshippers may come and go during the half-hour if they so wish.

Residents Assist In Production

A number of Andover residents are involved in the Living Presence Experimental Theatre production of "The King and I" to be held March 21, 22, 23 at Denworth Hall, Bradford College, Bradford at 8 p.m.

Dr. and Mrs. Glen Gulezian, 8 Pioneer Circle, are co-producers of the production involving over 75 young people from the Merrimack Valley Area.

Assisting as ticket chairmen, box office attendants, and cast party coordinators will be Mr. and Mrs. Sam DerAnanian, 1 Dean Circle.

Serving as stage manager and coordinator of all backstage props and scenery will be Gary Gulezian, 10 Arthur Road. Assisting will be Vahey Gulezian.

Under the direction of Miss Eileen Miller, Bradford, the show includes such popular songs as "I Whistle A Happy Tune," "Getting To Know You," "Something Wonderful" and "Shall We Dance."

Set against the exotic background of the imperial palace in mid 19th century Siam, "The King and I" unfolds an odd yet compelling story of an English School Teacher and the "uncivilized" Siamese King. She is the "west;" he is the "east" and the two meet in electric conflict and warm understanding.

Advised by a staff of volunteer adults, the young people of the Experimental Theatre create their own sets and costumes.

Working with and among the youth of the Merrimack Valley, the object of the Living Presence is to involve young people in positive activities with an awareness that all talents are God-given.

Tickets may be purchased from any of those mentioned above as well as at the door.

A Top Scorer

Steve Alexander of Andover, with 31 field goals and 13 free throws was among the top scorers on the Bowdoin College basketball team this past season. His .442 field goal percentage was tops on the club.

A Book On Yoga

"Yoga Is For You"
By Sue Luby

An Andover woman who has gained national note as a teacher of Hatha Yoga exercises is author of a new yoga instruction book published by Prentice-Hall, Inc., and available locally within the coming weeks.

Sue Luby, founder of the Yoga Teachers' Association of America, has just received her first hardback and paperback copies of "Yoga Is For You," her primer of yoga for men, women and children from youth to Senior Citizens' age.

Mrs. Luby already has been featured in a national family magazine and has recorded a double album on yoga which sells nationally. Her book has the added advantage of several good-sized photographs of the author to illustrate each yoga position described. "Yoga Is For You" takes the beginner through 50 yoga postures with approximately 150 photographs to lead the student through the beginning and intermediate stages of Hatha Yoga, step by step.

Mrs. Luby, who teaches 300 students locally, both men and women, and has led yoga as an after-school activity at West

Sue Luby

Elementary School, is a firm believer in the benefits of the technique for all ages. "Yoga is not a religion, it is a technique which increases vitality, gives relaxation and peace of mind. I ought to know, I sure didn't start out that way."

The Andover yoga instructor is her own best advertisement. She began yoga more than ten years ago when she had gained 30 pounds after the births of her two children, and suffered from a painful back problem.

"Finally, I stumbled onto a yoga class conducted by Marcia Moore, one of the nation's best known yoga teachers, and studied under her for two years," Sue Luby relates. Sue gives yoga credit for the new Sue Luby that emerged - slim, relaxed and full of new energy. "The change, both inward and outward, was so great that my friends and neighbors wanted me to teach them the secret. I worked with them through the summer, and by that fall, was launched as a teacher and lecturer on yoga." A feature in Woman's Day followed, which Sue saw as a means of spreading the good word about the Hatha Yoga as a means of unlocking energies, increasing physical fitness, bringing composure and peace of mind. Mrs. Luby trains yoga teachers to carry on her no-nonsense, positive approach to yoga. She also has been giving free private lessons to children with a combination of asthma and poor motor control, to help them build up self-confidence and control their asthma through controlled, related breathing.

Prentice-Hall Inc. is releasing the Yoga Is For You simultaneously through its Trades Departments and College Divisions, which fits Mrs. Luby's aim to reach Physical Education treatments of schools and colleges. "The curriculum in most physical education programs emphasizes competitive sports so much that it leaves out a vast majority of students who do not excel in sports. I want to reach them with Hatha Yoga as an enjoyable, deeply effective way of increasing their physical fitness, appearance and self confidence through proper breathing and spine care, and fit them to better handle life as it is today."

By Linda S. Corbett

All those years Liz Conway of North Andover was a Marine Corps wife and rearing six children, the idea of being a nurse was in the back of her mind.

On June 2, in graduation exercises in the Merrimack College chapel, it'll come true.

But along with her R.N., Liz has earned a very special award - she has been named Student Nurse of the Year at Lawrence General Hospital. And by June, her honors may go even further, as her name has now been entered for the state-wide student nurse title.

Liz will be the first, however, to pass along credit to the family. "It just wasn't something you could jump into without cooperation," she says of the past three years of class, student training, and now, in addition, working Saturdays in the operating room at The General.

"I couldn't have done it without Ed," she says of her husband, a retired Marine recruiter, who served in Vietnam, and now heads maintenance at Merrimack College.

"And the kids have all been great," she says of Patricia, 19, who works for Liberty Mutual in Andover; Eddie, 16, a sophomore at North Andover High; Michael, 12, in Middle School; and Shawn, 11, Maureen, 10, and Christopher, 7, all in Bradstreet School.

She also praises her mother, Mrs. Grace Dupuis of South Lawrence, who also works at Merrimack, "but has more energy than I do." She comes over and helps with the ironing and all.

A native of Lawrence, Liz had taken the nursing course at Lawrence High School, but she and Ed got married soon after. While he was a recruiter in Lawrence most of his Marine career, Ed served a while in Okinawa and also in Vietnam. The only time Liz could go with him was for a stint at Camp LeJeune, N.C., which was "too far away," and he was reassigned to Lawrence.

They've been back in North Andover 11 years. While she'd thought about nursing off and on over those years, one day in 1971 Liz "just picked up the phone" and called for an application. She didn't tell anyone besides Ed, she says, because she had to take the SATs, and after several years of being out of school, didn't know how she'd do.

But she made it and everyone went along.

On Saturday, for instance, when Liz works at The General - she leaves a list of chores for the children.

"They might not do it the way you or I would," she says of housecleaning, "but they do all right."

I made up my mind when I started back to school that I would have to concentrate on my studies and couldn't worry about everything being in order. I get caught up on holidays."

In the beginning, she says, she had to have peace and quiet for studying. But it's all in learning how to concentrate again, she says, and now she can have the radio on and people all around.

If she had trouble in a subject, she said, she'd go over to the Merrimack dorm and sit on the floor with the other student nurses, and they'd work it out together.

When her schedule allows, Liz tries to get dinner ready before she goes off to do her student nursing. But when she can't, she has a good substitute.

Before Ed was a Marine, he served in the Navy for four years - as a cook. In fact, Liz says, "he's taught me all I know. When I first got married I burned everything." He likes to make all these fancy roasts and things," she goes on. "He likes to decorate them and all. Me, I just throw it in the oven."

Gravy, she adds, is one of Ed's specialties.

While there was little socializing in the first years of class, there is now, and Liz even finds time for herself. Twice a week, she goes over to Slender Trap to exercise.

She never misses a JV basketball game (son Eddie is on the team), and rarely misses a varsity game. If she does miss - as she did last Wednesday when the varsity beat St. Peter's in Brockton, or the all-star game at the Garden, but catches it on the radio.

Liz also makes all the hockey games when sons Michael and Shawn play.

"I'm a loud mouth in the stands there, too," she laughs.

Liz hopes for an operating room assignment, come graduation. Meanwhile, she says, she was especially pleased to be - "Student Nurse of the Year," because she was elected by her fellow classmates, after a faculty committee had narrowed the field to five.

"But nobody was more surprised than I was," she says.

Homelands Festival Planned

The 25th Homelands Festival, an international pageant of folk art, festivities and ethnic foods, will be held Thursday through Sunday, April 25-28. The festival will be open to school groups on Thursday and Friday and to the public on Saturday from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Sunday from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. The Homelands Festival will be held at the YWCA, 38 Lawrence St., Lawrence.

More than 20 different nationalities from Greater Lawrence and Boston will participate in the four-day fair. India, China, Puerto Rico, Japan, Cuba, Ecuador, French Canada, Mexico and the Ukraine will be represented.

According to David Rodger, Executive Director of the International Institute, the festival, co-sponsored by the Institute and the YWCA of Greater Lawrence, will "bring together representatives of the major nationalities in Greater Lawrence, to work together on a common project and to exchange the best of each others cultures."

Handmade articles and traditional pastries will be among the items offered for sale at a variety of displays and booths. Also on sale will a reprint of the International Institute's classic 1938 Cookbook.

A special feature of this year's festival will be a Continental Cafe, featuring international coffees and wines.

An International Buffet will be held on Saturday, April 27 from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. The buffet will feature such foods as Syrian Kibbie, Norwegian Bread, Italian Lasagne, French Meat Pastries and German Saurbrat with noodles.

Craft demonstrations will include Chinese brush painting, pottery making and egg decorating.

Over three thousand people attended the Homelands Festival last year and according to Rodger, the sponsors hope to double the attendance this year. For advance tickets or more information, contact the International Institute at 430 North Canal St., Lawrence of the Lawrence YWCA, 38 Lawrence St.

Students
Get Glimpse
Of Jr. High

Seventh grade students from West Junior High school visited the sixth grade at West Elementary school recently.

The purpose of the visit was to relate their experiences at leaving the elementary school and entering the junior high school. Discussion groups were formed in each sixth grade class and the conversations covered many areas. Homework policies, foreign language classes, school rules and special activities highlighted most of the groups. An informative and frank question and answer session followed.

It is planned that this activity will be a first step in the annual orientation of sixth grade students to the junior high school environment. The use of seventh grade speakers allows for interaction of children who have experienced the change with those who will do so in September.

Aiding their future schoolmates were the following West Junior High seventh graders: Jeffrey Brown, Cathy Campbell, Gary Cohen, Jon Crush, Douglas Cummings, Mark DeFranco, Jane Kearn, Tammy Lawler, Ken Levanti, Carla McQuade, Peter Newton, Todd Orlando, Maureen Sheehy, Mary Alice Taylor, Katie Tremblay, Heyden Traub, Kelly Underwood, Paige Whitley and Kathy Willwerth.

former Town Manager Richard J. Bowen, the FinCom chairman reports.

The budget will be contained in the center of the book.

The chairman's message will be in the front and contain observations on issues which relate to municipal finances.

Byrne makes some commentaries on county government which he notes costs local taxpayers huge sums with no voice in the expenditures. He also comments on growing regionalization programs which he says may need the view of regional finance committees.

The FinCom has approved 12 of 15 money articles in the warrant totalling $1,460,922.

The committee may take a stand on a proposed rezoning item which concerns an apartment complex on Beacon street. Byrne says the proposal appears to be a costly one as far as town services are concerned, and the FinCom may make such observations at town meeting.

Another factor, still unknown in the budgetary planning is the amount to be included for employee compensation plan. Public safety departments are currently negotiating a new contract with the town and a figure for inclusion in the town meeting has not as yet been decided.

Briggs To Leave CD Position

Winston C. Briggs of Arundel Street, has resigned as civil defense director, after having served in that department for over 25 years.
